SINGLE MALT SCOTCH WHISKY

The term ‘single malt scotch’ refers to a whisky that fulfils all three elements of the term. Single; the whisky must be from only one distillery. Malt; the raw material used and must be barley malt; no other grain or fermentable sugars can be used; the barley malt must be infused with water, fermented with yeast and distilled in a pot still. Scotch; the whisky must be distilled and aged in Scotland. Single malts are commonly categorised by geography into the following regions.

LOWLAND

The Lowland region lies South of an imaginary line that runs from Greenock on the West coast of Scotland to Dundee in the East. Commonly Lowland malts are light and easy going with gentle sweetness coupled with subtle fruity notes, making them great whiskies for beginners

AUCHENTOSHAN

3 WOOD £4.5

GLENCKINCHIE 12YO £4

HIGHLANDS

The Highlands is by far the largest of all the whisky producing regions and offers you the greatest variations of style. To the West there are hints of smokiness and peat; the North offers heather, honey and salt with soil and coastal locations providing influence; the South and East are quite a mixed bunch but are generally fruity and sweet leaning towards Speyside flavours.

GLENFARCLAS 17YO £7.5

OBAN 14YO £6.5

OLD PULTENEY 12YO £4.5

SPEYSIDE

Speyside is not officially a whisky region but it is generally accepted as a subdivision of the Highlands Region. Speyside malts offer a variety of strengths and can generally be broken down into two categories, the heavy, rich sherry flavoured malts and the more complex light, floral flavoured malts

BALVENIE 14YO CARIBBEAN
CASK £4.5

GLENFIDDICH SOLERA
RESERVA 15YO £5.5

MACALLAN 12YO DOUBLE
CASK £6.5

ISLANDS

Like Speyside the Islands are not officially a whisky region, the Islands is another subdivision of the Highlands Region. The Islands region includes all of the whisky producing Isles namely Mull, Skye, Orkney, Arran, Jura and Lewis. Due to the location of the Islands distilleries their whiskies tend to have a slightly peated, coastal feel to them

TALISKER 10YO £4.1

HIGHLAND PARK 18YO £10

ISLAY

There are eight distilleries on the island of Islay (pronounced Eye-luh). Islay is located in the Inner Hebrides of Scotland on the West coast. Islay whiskies are easily the strongest flavoured of all Scotch whiskies, they are renowned for their strong peaty smokiness which comes from the indigenous peat fuel which they use for malting the barley

ARDBEG 10YO £5

BUNNAHABHAIN 18YO £7.5

COAL ILA 12YO £5

LAGAVULIN 16YO £5.5

LAPHROAIG 10YO £4.5

CAMPBELTOWN

Campbeltown lies towards the end of the Mull of Kintyre peninsula on the West Coast of Scotland. Campbeltown single malts are very distinctive, tending to be full bodied, renowned for their depth of flavour and also for their slightly salty finish.
